

Streamline Operations and Grow Your Business

Growing a business can be challenging. To help you succeed, the latest version of Sage Accpac software offers you customer relationship management (CRM) included in your solution! Version 5.5 introduced the Sage Accpac Extended Enterprise Suite—a revolutionary approach to connecting your front and back offices, dynamically linking processes, information, workflows, and communication channels. The foundation of the Extended Enterprise Suite is made up of Sage Accpac and the award-winning SageCRM solution. Sage Accpac Version 5.6 continues this tradition—integrating seamlessly with SageCRM 6.1 as well as with 6.2, which includes important enhancements to how Sage Accpac and SageCRM interact.

A comprehensive CRM solution enables organizations to guarantee their sales and customer care professionals have access to critical data—regardless of whether or not they have an Internet connection. With Version 5.6, you can view and synchronize SageCRM data on the Solo client when integrated with Sage Accpac. As a result, Offline Synchronization simply makes your field sales, marketing, and service personnel more productive and efficient because they can work anytime, anywhere, irrespective of connectivity. In addition, Customer National Account relationships are now being maintained, and Version 5.6 also provides the ability to set the Salesperson Codes and hyperlink where total tax amounts are displayed and to the unit price field for easy access to how the unit price was obtained based on the customer price list information. Many new menu items are also available directly from SageCRM along with other enhancements to this already comprehensive interface.

It Keeps Getting Better—Take a Look!

The future holds even more savvy, time-saving tools. The next generation of Sage Accpac will harness the power of Web 2.0 technology to deliver a better user experience, lower total cost of ownership, and enhanced functionality. Users will be able to view information key to their roles, rapidly navigate between tasks, and complete everyday tasks more quickly. With roles-based portals, each end-user will be able to access relevant business intelligence information and new reporting tools. Accounting clerks could see a dashboard of aged receivables/payables and AR/AP balances, while senior executives would have information at their fingertips about top customers, gross sales, net sales and returns, and total returns.

Every employee is in control with easy-to-use, in-depth financial, operations, and strategic planning intelligence. The portals will allow end-users to drill down to the transaction level and to adjust the parameters “on the fly.” Inquiry tools will be integrated into portals to allow for faster, more precise searching, right down to the actual transaction level. These are just a few of the features you can look forward to in our next release of Sage Accpac Extended Enterprise Suite.
